We know that Chefs love the heat of their own kitchens... so we'll happily bring the studio to you!
Working unobtrusively, we can capture the inner workings of your kitchen or restaurant in a photo-journalistic style - showing the dedication and professionalism of your team as they create each dish.

Images for magazine editorials, or even book projects, can all be provided. Recent projects include a selection of images for the best selling book "Black Pudding and Foie Gras" by Andrew Pern of The Star Inn, Harome, North Yorkshire.

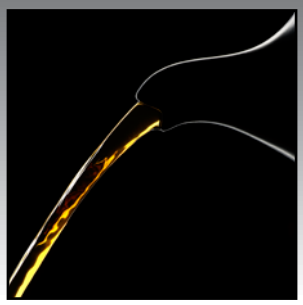
It's all about IMPACT. Images that grab your attention – or that of your customer. Images that help to SELL your product – or service – and make a real difference to your PROFIT.

Yes, we have a credible track record – fifteen years of image making and over 200 awards for our work. We've got staying power!

Ultimately, our success depends on our clients. Working as part of your marketing team, we CAN make a difference.



But who are Bailey Cooper?

Paul Cooper FMPA FBIPP QEP has gained many national awards - including the top accolade of UK Photographer of the Year, twice!

Currently, Paul is the Commercial Sector Chairman of the MPA's qualification team and has previously received a Presidential Award from the MPA for his services to the Photographic Industry. As a result his work is marketed worldwide and he is in regular demand as a photographic speaker and judge both in the UK and internationally.

Paul shoots commercial images for advertising and packaging, press and PR images for the newspaper and magazine industry, and lots of 'people' shots: Fashion shoots, weddings, and portraits are all undertaken with the same flair and creativity that stems from Paul's passion for photography.

When Paul isn't shooting for clients, he's creating images for the in house Bailey Cooper photo library. Covering a multitude of subjects this ever expanding image resource is marketed throughout the entire world across a diverse range of businesses: Bailey Cooper images have been used internationally to promote everything from gift vouchers to computers.

Catherine Cooper AMPA ABIPP, or Kate as she is usually known, creates award winning commercial studio images for a wide range of bailey-cooper clients.

As a previous winner of the UK MPA/BIPP Advertising Photographer of the Year award, Kate's work has been recognised at the highest level and is regularly used by design agencies and magazines throughout the world.
For obvious reasons, Kate brings a feminine touch to the bailey cooper mix: Her flair for fashion and design really comes into it's own when working alongside Paul as stylist and second photographer.
